Greathouse says grand jury indictment is 'unbelievable'

By NANCY WEIL

of the Press-Record

Walter "Shang" Greathouse, president of the Metro-East Sanitary District and a member of the Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals, was to be arraigned today on charges of official misconduct, conspiracy to commit bribery and failure to report a bribe attempt.

Greathouse was expected to plead innocent to the charges in his appearance before the Third Judicial Circuit Court in Edwardsville. Greathouse was free Friday on a $250,000 recognizance bond set by Circuit Judge P. J. O'Neill.

The indictment against Greathouse was returned by a county grand jury Thursday and suppressed overnight.

Calling the indictment "unbelievable," Greathouse said it was an "embarrassment" to his family. He added that he has no intention of resigning either of his positions.

The indictment alleges that Greathouse, "in his official capacity, knowingly accepted $500 United States currency for the performance of an act, which currency Walter Greathouse was not authorized by law to accept."

Madison County Supervisor of Assessments James Barton was indicted in November on charges of bribery, conspiracy to commit bribery and official misconduct related to the incident.

Barton allegedly accepted $1,000 from landowner William Nichols and gave $500 to Greathouse in order to influence his vote in a zoning matter.

Barton contends the money was a political contribution and that Nichols did not request any special treatment in return for the money. Greathouse also has said the money was a political contribution, but that he did not want it and gave the $500 back to Barton.

Records show that Greathouse voted against a special use permit for Nichols. His negative vote proves his innocence. Greathouse has told the Press-Record.

Prior to his indictment, Greathouse said he had done nothing in his life that he "would not go before God on," and had said he is not worried about the investigation.

Friday, he said he did not understand why he was indicted. He added that he did not hear about the indictment until he was approached by two reporters at the courthouse.

Greathouse has repeatedly said he knows nothing about the proceedings of the investigation of his part in the alleged bribery attempt, but has been willing to cooperate with authorities.

Weber presented the county board with information about the investigation in January, including the results of a lie detector test taken by Greathouse which authorities contend he failed.

Greathouse said the lie detector test was given in a confusing manner and that Weber did not provide information about a previous test which he passed.

After the result of the lie detector test was made public, Greathouse refused an offer of a plea bargain from Weber saying it would make him "look guilty."

Weber proposed that Greathouse plead guilty to a misdemeanor charge without a jail sentence and resign from both the MESD and the zoning board of appeals.

Surprise storm leaves two inches of snow

By GARY SCHNEIDER

Press-Record Editor

Snow, snow, go away. You don't belong here in April or May.

Many a fisherman and outdoorsman, as well as those who only wanted to mow their lawns, found their plans ruined Sunday by, of all things, a spring snowstorm.

According to the U.S. Weather Bureau in St. Louis, snow this late in the year hasn't happened since 1929, when four inches blanketed the area May 2.

Officially, 2.1 inches of snow struck this area Sunday, reaching near-blizzard proportions before noon. Fortunately, due to the warm temperatures, roads stayed clear during the day and there was little interference with normal activities, except for mowing the lawn.

As temperatures dropped Sunday night, some streets became icy, particularly on bridges and overpasses. Two accidents were reported early this morning at Niedringhaus Avenue and Route 3 and salt trucks were dispatched to break up the ice.

Only the day before, hundreds of Scouts, youths and volunteers combed the Quad-City area, comfortable in sweaters and light jackets, picking up trash in the Chamber of Commerce's "Stash the Trash" community cleanup day. The forecast was for another beautiful day Sunday.

The weatherman got a good laugh this morning when asked by the Press-Record, "Do you have any more surprises for us?"

Oh, well, in a winter that has been nearly devoid of snow, children — and even a few adults — enjoyed the late-season chance for one last snowball fight.

Snow, in April? Ridiculous.

Testifies that Massa guided Brimberry's rise

By PAT HAY LUTZ

of the Press-Record

A former president of the now-defunct Stix and Company stock brokerage told jurors Thursday that he learned of the embezzlement which destroyed the firm only when federal marshals seized records and existing "stocks" in November of 1981.

Testifying in the case against Collinsville Attorney James Massa, which alleges Massa's involvement in the embezzlement scheme that cost the firm a reputed $16 million, Frederick A. Arnstein Jr., told Assistant U.S. Attorney Terry Adelman that former Senior Vice President Thomas Brimberry of Granite City had been promoted from his position as a margin clerk to senior vice president within a span of approximately six years.

It was Brimberry, Arnstein related, who introduced Massa to the firm, indicating Massa's interest in purchasing stock in Stix and Co. "I met James Massa at a meeting with him and the president of the First National Bank of Collinsville," Arnstein said. "Massa said that the idea of investing in Stix and Co. appealed to him."

According to Arnstein's testimony, Massa offered $200,000 worth of stock to purchase stock, and Arnstein had no reason to believe that the money was fact Brimberry's. "He (Massa) left no doubt that the money was his," he said.

Even though the board of directors authorized the sale of 10,000 shares of Stix stocks, Arnstein said that they would not have voted to sell the stock if they had known that Brimberry had supplied Massa with the money.

The approval was given in June, 1978, he explained, but Massa did not buy the stocks until January, 1979, at which time the investment amounted to "somewhat over $200,000."

According to Arnstein, Massa had requested that his purchase allow him to be placed on the board of directors, but only as a "passive director." "He stated that if he invested, he would want to be on the board of directors as a passive director," he testified. "He said that he would not take direct actions."

Adelman asked Arnstein, "If you had known that Brimberry was furnishing money for the stocks and had agreed to split the benefits with Massa, would you have approved the sale of the stocks?"

To which Arnstein replied, "No."

Massa did take an active part in board decisions, Arnstein testified, and in October, 1979, asked that Brimberry be placed on the board of directors to represent him in his absence.

Brimberry's appointment was approved; however, Massa never missed any meetings.

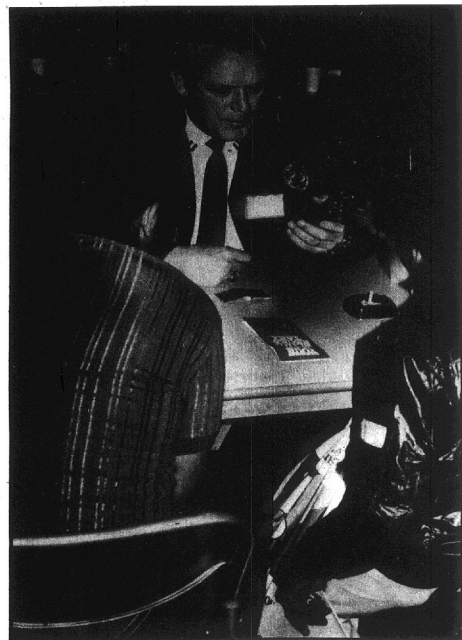

In a heated stockholder's meeting in December, 1979, Massa proposed a reduction of the board from 11 members to nine. Although Arnstein and several members of the board disagreed with Massa, the board's decision was in favor of Massa's proposal, and the board was reduced.

Arnstein told the jury that Massa outlined plans in February, 1980, to have Brimberry given total responsibility over the firm's operations, thus giving Brimberry total access to the securities. "By September, Mr. Brimberry was in charge of the entire operations department," Arnstein testified. "He was second only to myself (in the hierarchy of the firm)."

Arnstein then told of Massa's increased involvement in activities of the board. "He took a more active role in changes," Arnstein said. "In October of 1980, he reported that he should be compensated for his services and counsel for Stix and Co., and requested a fee of $200 per hour. The board approved the request," Arnstein stated.

Adelman then produced financial statements sent to the firm by Massa, indicating charges for consultations, and noted several instances where Arnstein and Massa had different opinions on the time spent at the meetings. Massa had also attended board meetings and subsequently charged the firm for his attendance, Arnstein testified. (Continued on Page 2)

Order psychiatric tests for Brimberry

Thomas R. Brimberry, 39, of Granite City remains in custody in lieu of $200,000 bond and has been ordered to report to the U.S. Medical Center in Springfield for psychiatric testing to determine if he is competent to stand trial.

Thursday, U.S. District Judge William Beatty of Granite City refused during a hearing in Alton to reduce Brimberry's bond, saying that now that Brimberry has had a taste of incarceration, he is more likely than ever to flee the country. Judge Beatty said Brimberry now knows "what may be facing him if, and it's a big word, he should be convicted."

In a motion filed with U.S. District Judge Clyde S. Cahill Thursday in St. Louis, prosecutors asked for a psychiatric examination of Brimberry, saying he may have been "mentally incompetent" when he participated in the $16 million stock fraud at the Stix & Co. brokerage in St. Louis which led to the brokerage's collapse.

Since that time, Brimberry, a diabetic, has refused medical treatment and means and has been acting in an abnormal manner, the prosecutors said. His physical condition is said to have deteriorated since he was taken into custody in Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 14.

The psychiatric examination at Springfield, Mo., should determine whether Brimberry is competent to understand the proceedings against him or properly to assist in his own defense, "according to the motion filed by the prosecutors."

The results of the testing also may determine whether Brimberry is used as a witness against others involved in the Stix swindle.

Judge Beatty's refusal Thursday to reduce Brimberry's bond was criticized by Defense Counsel Lawrence J. Fleming, who contends the government has set a high bond to try and flush out large sums of money still missing from the Stix brokerage.

Brimberry is scheduled to go on trial May 9 in St. Louis on 15 counts of a federal indictment.

Stix & Co. is not affiliated with Stix, Baer & Fuller department stores.

Committee rejects Gaslight sewers

By NANCY WEIL

of the Press-Record

Danger of a flood at the Gaslight Walk Lakeshore area sewage lagoon apparently is no longer imminent and neither is an agreement with the owner of the lagoon to hook onto the Madison County Sanitary Sewers.

The Madison County Board was supposed to consider the agreement at its meeting this Wednesday morning, but the special service area committee adamantly rejected the tentative proposal last week. The board is not, therefore, expected hear the proposal Wednesday.

It is clear, however, that the committee wants to negotiate to reach an agreement between the county, Granite Properties (owner of the lagoon), the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency and Granite City Wastewater Treatment Plant officials for hooking the subdivision onto the service area system.

Negotiations probably will resume sometime after the board meeting, it was indicated.

The agreement was tentatively reached two weeks ago after Granite Properties officials had agreed to emergency

When federal marshals seized files in November 1981, Arnstein stated that approximately $40 million in securities were missing.

"I called a meeting of the board and located Massa in Las Vegas," Arnstein testified. "I told him that the securities and Mr. Brimberry seem to be missing." (Brimberry had been missing for four days.)

Arnstein relayed Massa's reply as, "Well, he shouldn't have done that." When Arnstein told Massa that the missing securities in the 10 accounts which Brimberry controlled, Massa replied, "Those were Tom's securities anyway."

"He seemed very unconcerned," Arnstein said of Massa, who had allegedly invested nearly $1 million dollars in the firm by this time and held control over the reconstituted board.

He was informed of an emergency board meeting which Arnstein called to determine the whereabouts of Massa. He could not attend the meeting and would contact Arnstein the following day. When Arnstein phoned Massa the next day, Massa told him, "that he had some pressing business at his office and could not come to the firm."

Arnstein testified that he never saw or heard from Massa again.

In his cross-examination, Defense Attorney F. Lee Bailey questioned Arnstein about his immediate trust in Brimberry and his failure to learn about the embezzlement scheme. "How in the world could a margin clerk pull this stunt under the nose of a CPA (certified public accountant), a lawyer, and a man who has been in the stock business since 1949?" Bailey asked. "I didn't learn of the irregularities," Arnstein said.

Arnstein explained, "The anxiety to get more money exceeded caution," he said.

Both internal and external controls failed to discover irregularities, Arnstein testified. "If the internal controls break down, then independent, external auditors generally spot irregularities," he said.

Bailey challenged Arnstein, stating, "They (external auditors) were staring at forged securities and noticed nothing amiss," to which Arnstein replied, "Obviously the securities slipped through the examinations."

Arnstein explained that Brimberry had control over 10 accounts and estimated their worth at a face value of $36 million to $40 million. When Bailey asked Arnstein if he knew of allegations that Brimberry had kept securities in his desk and had flashed them in front of other employees, Arnstein said, "No," and explained that the firm did not have a mandatory reporting procedure in such instances.

"We had no rules," he testified. "It indicates a failure of individuals to report such incidents and a breakdown in internal control," he added.

Bailey questioned Arnstein further, asking, "As you look back, there was no hint of irregularities?" and Arnstein replied, "Correct."

"So it's safe to say that what Mr. Brimberry was doing, he was doing very well?" Bailey asked.

"After a pause, Arnstein quietly answered, 'Correct.'"

In other testimony Thursday, former Financial Director Daniel O'Connell spent two hours identifying signatures, contracts, and other correspondence which had been written regarding falsified accounts. Securities and Exchange Commission Attorney Ronald Kane pointed to several instances in the material which indicated Massa's involvement in the "loans" made to Stix and Co. by A. E. Shaw, whom O'Connell thought to be "a wealthy widow," and by Helen Kamaduski, "a relative of Brimberry's family."

In fact, O'Connell later learned that these names were merely used as a cover for Brimberry's scheme, which allowed him to "earn" thousands of dollars every month in interest on the loans.

O'Connell testified that Brimberry looked to Massa for advice in his dealings with the firm. Kane asked, "In your estimation, was Brimberry reporting to Massa?" and O'Connell replied, "That is correct." O'Connell then related an incident where Brimberry had called Massa in O'Connell's presence to receive advice on a Stix matter.

"How did you know that he (Brimberry) was talking to Massa?" asked Kane, to which O'Connell replied, "He handed the phone to me and Massa gave me instructions on how to handle the problem."

When O'Connell told Massa that Brimberry should be removed from the board of directors because of a conflict of interest, he testified, Massa "questioned my use of the term" and said, "Whatever way Tom Brimberry wished the procedure to be, then that was the best way to go."

Responding to cross-examination by Bailey, Friday, O'Connell testified that when learned that Brimberry was keeping stock certificates in his desk, he confronted Massa with the information. "I told him I expected him to correct the situation," O'Connell said.

When asked why he did not report his findings to anyone else, O'Connell stated, "I felt at the time that it was the best remedy."

O'Connell had tried to convince Brimberry to let him see the certificates, but Brimberry had a secretary call him and verify their whereabouts. The secretary later told O'Connell that she had only seen one certificate.

Challenging O'Connell, Bailey asked, "Didn't that make you suspicious?" "At the time, I was not suspicious that there was a theft going on," he replied.

Bailey then asked, "Asking the fox in the chicken suit if he's going to eat the chickens isn't the best remedy, is it?" and O'Connell replied, "I didn't know he was a fox."

"Of course not! He was still wearing the chicken suit!" Bailey added.

Continuing his guarded testimony (he often began his responses with "from what I have read in the papers"), O'Connell explained that he feared the loss of his job if he provoked an investigation into the irregularities. "I learned that telling anyone else about the situation would endanger my position at the firm," he said.

Another witness, James Haemer, told of how Brimberry bragged of being Massa's personal choice for his position in Stix and Co. "He (Brimberry) told me that Massa had picked him to run the operations in the back," Haemer testified. "Massa had told him to keep the securities under control."

Haemer said he saw "several hundred" entries entered into the books which indicated proper segregation of the stocks only days before an audit. (Segregation in the records is a procedure in which personal stocks are kept apart from those stocks which can be used for monetary gain by the company.)

Bailey asked if Haemer reported the incident to anyone, Haemer replied, "I told Mr. Massa of Brimberry's irregularities in segregation," he answered. "Mr. Massa said, 'If he (Brimberry) couldn't get the auditors to do what he wants them to do, then he should fire them.'"

Arthur Leibur Jr., formerly associated with Sidney Cohen and Co., testified that his firm did not detect any irregularities in the records or certificates at Stix. The auditors, acting as an independent agency to audit Stix and Co., didn't notice anything unusual about the forged certificates. "We did not detect the forgeries," he testified.

Bailey challenged Leibur, saying, "They did not detect the forgeries even though they were staring them in the face?" and Leibur replied, "All stocks are not the same, so it is not uncommon to see different types of stocks."

Massa faces more than 100 years in prison if he is convicted.

Gaslight sewers

assistance from the service area to pump the lagoon and keep it from flooding nearby homes.

Representatives from each of the factions involved met last week and agreed on the tentative proposal, subject to county board approval. While the agreement initially appeared to be sound, Committee Chairman Morris Miles found several flaws in it that led to the committee's rejection of the proposal.

Pumping was halted at 2 p.m. Thursday because the lagoon level no longer posed a threat of flooding.

Service Area Superintendent Gene Futch said pumping could resume if rain threatens to fill the lagoon again. Two feet of water was pumped from the sewage lagoon, he said.

Employees of the service area will monitor the lagoon every day in case another emergency situation occurs. Six years ago, the lagoon did flood and sent raw sewage spilling into the yards and homes of residents.

Although at the committee meeting Miles said he was concerned about the residents, he indicated that problems would result from the agreement because it would require another privately-owned sewer firm into the service area. The agreement stipulated that Granite Properties would be responsible for maintaining the sewer system.

The county already has experienced problems with a similar situation at the Meadowlark Subdivision, where the sewer system is still owned by Jerry Wade of Metro-East Utilities, but is tapped onto the service area.

Were a problem to occur with the sewers at Gaslight — Lakeshire, residents would be likely to call the service area office, but would be told to contact the owners. In the meantime, the residents could be having serious problems and might not be able to reach the owners as easily as they could contact the service area office.

Further, Granite Investments is licensed by the Illinois Commerce Commission and can raise sewer rates with ICC approval.

Miles said he is fearful the owners might obtain approval to increase rates past the current $14.80 that county sewer users pay, "and I can't buy that," he said.

Wade was given approval by the ICC to raise rates at Meadowlark and Miles said that he did not want to see the same thing happen at Gaslight Walk — Lakeshire.

Reluctance on the part of the committee to agree to the contract probably also is due to past negotiation problems with the owners of the lagoon and the IEPA. Two years ago, the county sought to take the area into the service area, but the IEPA did not force the owners to upgrade standards within their system.

Upgrading the system would cost Granite Investments about $75,000 according to estimates from Charles Juneau and Associates, the service area's engineering firm.

The IEPA did not force Granite Investments to upgrade the system and turn ownership over to the county. Such an agreement would make the lagoon unnecessary and it would be drained.

When it appeared that the lagoon might flood two weeks ago, the service area agreed to assist Granite Investments to protect residents from would have been a monumental disaster in terms of health and money. Assistant State's Attorney Marshall "Zeke" Smith, who has represented the county in the matter, said at the time of the emergency agreement that the IEPA indicated that Granite Investments had to hook onto the county system.

The tentative proposal was not, however, in agreement with the emergency pact, Irvin C. Slate Jr., service area attorney, said. What started as an emergency situation seemed destined to become a permanent situation, he added.

But the committee apparently believes the permanence of the agreement leaves much to be desired. Had the problem been resolved two years ago, and the IEPA forced the lagoon owners to enter into the service area, the present dilemma would not exist, committee members indicated.

In another matter that has pestered the committee for some time, a decision was made at the committee meeting to give Stan Lucas a deadline of April 29 for upgrading a lift station at the new Town & Country Apartment Complex.

Residents are expected to move in during May and Slate said that upgrading of the lift station "needs to be done before people move into those apartments."

If the lift station is not brought up to standards, the apartment complex will not be allowed to tap onto the county sewers, committee members said.

By law, the service area cannot disconnect a sewer user (or subdivision) once it already is hooked into and operating within the county system.

Zoning issues to be heard

The Madison County Board Wednesday will consider the following recommendations from the Zoning Board of Appeals:

To grant a request of Mark Holloway of First Granite City National Bank for rezoning of property located along Chain of Rocks Road from a residential zone to a general business district.

To allow a request by Henry W. Ross to rezone a tract of land from a single family residence district to a multiple dwelling district at 317 E. Chain of Rocks Road.

To grant a permit to Carol L. Griffith, owner, and Bernice Teller, resident, to continue placement of a mobile home at 2537 North St., Venice Township.

The petition of Fred Hartline, owner, and Patricia A. Tripp, resident, was recommended to allow Hartline to purchase an existing mobile home at 4123 Division St., Nameoki Township.

To grant the petition of Jonah Young, owner and resident, for a special use permit to continue placement of a single wide mobile home at 215 Carver St., Eagle Park Acres.

To allow Betty Finley a special use permit for placement of a single wide mobile home at 308 Terry St., Venice Township.

To allow Bessie M. Scruggs to continue placement of a single wide mobile home at 310 Terry St., Eagle Park Acres.

The zoning board has cancelled a request for the county board to consider granting a special use permit to Morris B. Chapman, owner, and Harman Smith, resident, to continue placement of a mobile home at 5260 Nameoki Road, Chouteau Township, because no one appeared at the hearing.

Greathouse

man Nelson Hagnauer, a long-time political ally and friend of Greathouse, nominated him for reappointment to his zoning board post.

At the time, Hagnauer said Greathouse had given his assurance that he was not guilty and would resign if indicted. Hagnauer added that he personally believed Greathouse and urged the board to approve the appointment, which it did.

On Friday, however, Hagnauer reportedly said he would not ask for Greathouse's resignation. Greathouse said he would "absolutely not, no way," resign his position.

Attempts by some county board members to oust Barton have failed. A motion to dismiss Barton was made at the committee meeting in March by H. Jack Frandsen, D-Alhambra, and failed 17-11.

The bribery investigation prompted the county board to adopt a procedure to fire appointed officials, although the policy does not apply to Barton because of a state statute that deals specifically with the offices of county supervisors of assessment.

The policy probably does include Greathouse's position on the zoning board of appeals. Hagnauer has said he believes the board should take the same action with Greathouse as it did with Barton and wait until a trial is conducted before making a decision.

No trial date has been set for Barton.

Pontoon commercial zoning before GC Council Tuesday

The Granite City Council is expected to consider Tuesday a commercial zoning petition for 1520-22 Pontoon Road.

The petition submitted by Carl Thorsberry received the recommendation of the city's Plan Commission last week.

The property zoned R-2 residential is being considered for C-2 light commercial rezoning. The commissioners decided to recommend the zoning change, since the property is the only property on the block not already zoned for commercial use.

The change would not be considered an infringement on residential zoning, according to Commissioner Fred Cunningham. The property borders the edge of C-5 commercial highway zoning. Commissioners, however, emphasized their mutual decision was not based on the mere location of the property next to other commercial properties, but rather that commercial zoning is the only logical use for the property.

Plan Commission Chairman David Morgan included the property among those "missed" when the city's new zoning ordinance was approved. "This probably should have been zoned C-2 in the first place," he said.

There were no objections to the rezoning request at the Plan Commission meeting.

Bishop had many links to area

Quad-Cityans are deeply saddened by the sudden death yesterday of Bishop Joseph A. McNicholas, head of the Catholic Diocese of Springfield.

Auxiliary bishop from 1969 to 1975 of the St. Louis Archdiocese, which he served for 25 years, he was well acquainted with the local area and visited often, including the 1983 Lenten season.

Nearly always smiling, he had a finely honed sense of humor as well as an appropriate touch for solemn occasions.

Archbishop John L. May remembers him as "energetic, talented and dedicated."

Bishop McNicholas was well informed on issues and events, and took a keen interest in the local medical center, Quad-City area schools, other church-related facilities in Madison County and a variety of community programs, including scouting.

One of the most active and beloved church leaders in memory, he will be missed by many thousands here as well as in nearly 200 other parishes and missions.

Boards face test of continuity

With an estimated one-tenth of all Illinois teachers about to be laid off and numerous buildings and services being phased out, 1983 is certain to be a traumatic year for many school systems.

Adding to the trauma will be elections which, unwise, will deal with board majorities, rather than the previous concept of terms staggered among groups of two, two and three members.

In November, for the first time ever, most school board members' terms will expire simultaneously. About half of the seven-member boards have five terms expiring this year, and the other half have four terms ending.

James Sanders, president of the Illinois Association of School Boards, links the situation to the state's consolidated election law, which changed board terms from three to four years, altered the election schedule from annual to biennial, and eliminated the previous focus on continuity of policies.

Sanders says public schools "face this potential turnover in leadership at a time when they must struggle with unprecedented budget problems due to cuts in state aid. If there is anything our schools don't need right now, it's a mass turnover in board membership."

"It takes seven strong backs to carry the problems facing schools today, particularly when the problems include deep cuts in programs and staff."

"I urge board members who have been planning to retire to consider running for one more term, or to recruit top-notch replacements and help them learn about the job," Sanders concludes. He second his suggestion, and give a failing grade to those who drafted the consolidation law in such an ill-advised way.

Taxing times for Jim, Jayne

April 15 has come and gone but taxes remain in the news, particularly as they relate to the governor of Illinois.

As the deadline approached, Gov. and Mrs. James R. (Jayne C.) Thompson filed income tax returns showing they paid $12,566 to the federal government and $1,341 to the state, based on gross income of $89,478 and net income of $83,236 in 1982.

(The governor earned $58,000 as his salary but, because of a law change effective in January 1982, taxes on retirement contributions by state employees are deferred until retirement. As a result, his current taxable income is substantially reduced. Because of overwithholding and because of large interest payments by the Thompsons, they will receive a federal income tax refund of $5,868. But they had to pay additional state taxes totaling $117.)

2. The governor has completed payment of $1,111 to the state treasurer in accord with a plan he announced last fall requesting all state employees and officials to return five days' pay to their financially-squeezed state government. Noting that many have voluntarily complied with the proposal, he thanked them and urged the others to "assist your state in getting through a difficult economic time."

3. Unable to obtain a sponsor for his legislation to raise Illinois taxes permanently, Thompson decided Thursday to ask instead that taxes be hiked temporarily (four years). The amount he is seeking is likely to be trimmed by legislators, but the prospect of passage is seen as improved, thanks in no small part to the switch in duration.

If the state and national economies recover sufficiently to make expanded Illinois income taxes unnecessary after several years, they can be and will be allowed to expire, many lawmakers promise.

But caution is advisable, since temporary actions have a tendency to become permanent.

Before any increases are considered this spring, a reduction in real estate taxation may prove to be the key to gaining majority backing at Springfield for higher income tax levels.

Explains purpose of the Concerned Citizens

To the Editor:

What is the Madison Concerned Citizens?

That is a question that many false answers are being put forth by, primarily, members of the Madison city administration.

Let's talk facts. The parent organization was formed as a political organization to defeat the "Home Rule" vote. Seven people, not afraid to voice their opinions, started the group, Madison Concerned Citizens Against Home Rule. Despite somewhat vicious verbal attacks against these people, the will of the people was felt in the secrecy of the voting booth.

We all should remember that, in the voting booth, no one knows how you vote and the people spoke clearly in their voting, which caused the defeat of "home rule" two to one.

The original organization was then disbanded as such, but it was felt by many that somebody or some group needed to keep an "eye" on the city administration and how the aldermen were spending the citizens' tax money.

So the name was officially changed to Madison Concerned Citizens.

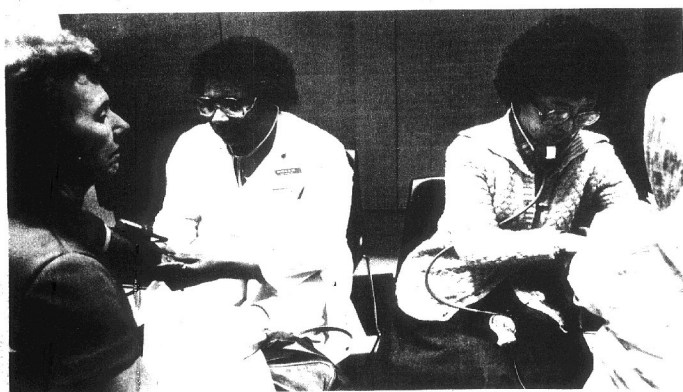

The purpose was changed also from the political defeat of candidates or issues to a "citizens awareness" group. It was felt by many that the people of Madison should be kept aware of what the aldermen they elected were doing.

Meetings are open to the public — none are ever closed or secret — and are held regularly the third Monday of every month at 7 p.m. in Polish Hall. All citizens who are concerned about our city are welcome.

Readers React

Granite City Press-Record readers were asked for their opinions concerning private residents owning handguns as a protection against crime. Their reactions follow:

Anna Michaels, Granite City

"I don't believe in having handguns in the house at all. We've never had a gun in the house, and we've lived to this ripe old age. It's too dangerous. You never know who could get ahold of it."

Gene Ligibel

As long as they're (owners) safe about it — as long as they know what they're doing — it's alright. They should take a class to show them how to use a handgun, how to take care of it and the 'rights' and 'wrongs' before they are issued a license."

Josephine Uram, Granite City

I don't believe in handguns in the home. I think there ought to be a better way to protect oneself."

Michael Hillmer, Granite City

"I don't think private citizens should be allowed to own handguns. I don't think guns protect them from criminals. More innocent people are killed from handguns than criminals. If private citizens do own handguns, they should be required to take a safety skills test on each weapon they own. Handguns are just as dangerous as cars, so if citizens are required to take a driver's test to operate a car the same should be true for handguns."

Cost of withholding may block homes, cars

To the Editor:

Ask a politician about why your taxes keep going higher and higher and he will respond like a defendant in a paternity suit. I didn't do it.

That's funny. With 535 congressmen and senators who never own up to increasing taxes on working men and women, our taxes keep getting higher each year. How can this be?

Well, taxes are not brought by the state. They are voted by our representatives in Washington.

While politicians claim to be the taxpayers' best friend when they are back visiting the home district, somehow, when they return to Washington they pay more attention to satisfying the bureaucracy's insatiable appetite for your money. You didn't need it anyway, did you?

Sad to report, but Congress is at it again. Last year, it voted to begin withholding dividend and interest income.

The withholding tax is scheduled to take effect July 1 this year.

An overwhelming majority of taxpayers already pay their taxes on this income, and with existing reporting requirements, compliance will reach 97 percent.

But Congress was not satisfied. They wanted to reach into your bank accounts and take out your money so they could earn the interest on it during the year.

The cost of withholding income from more than 40 million individual interest and dividend paying investments will be roughly $3 billion in start-up costs, and annual costs of more than $1.4 billion each and every year.

This deadweight cost to the economy will result in lower interest for savers and will take money out of the economy which would otherwise be used to finance new home construction, car loans and new businesses. The jobs which would have been created will be lost.

American taxpayers are hopping mad. More than 18 million letters have flooded Washington demanding that the withholding tax be repealed.

Senator Robert Dole (R-Kan.), the chief proponent of withholding, has already received more than 500,000 letters. As a result, a majority of both houses of Congress have co-sponsored bills to repeal this law.

It will not be easy. Big government doesn't like to give back any cash it has been able to wrest from the taxpayers.

Tip O'Neill is keeping the House from voting on repeal and Senator Dole has filibustered attempts to repeal withholding in the Senate.

Feels M*A*S*H does not deserve criticism

To the Editor:

I read the column on March 31, 1983 about M*A*S*H. I think that is probably the best program on television.

The man that wrote that article evidently has never watched this program. I watch M*A*S*H every night and I have never seen the doctors or nurses go into the operating room staggering from being all drunk up. In fact, I can't recall ever seeing the doctors so drunk that they actually staggered.

Their drinking on this program has no influence on the younger generation. This generation drinks only because they want to.

As far as Father Mulcahey the priest, he does nothing wrong on this program. He acts just as any real priest would act.

To start with if the critic doesn't like M*A*S*H, he shouldn't watch, and if he doesn't watch, how does he know what's going on?

I think a lot of readers will feel the same as I do.

CATCH 3 YOUTHS AT GRACE BAPTIST

Called to a burglary in progress at Grace Baptist Church, 2600 Edwards St., last week, officers saw one boy inside the building and caught two others, 13 and 14 years old, who were coming out of an alley at the rear of the church. A restroom window was found to be unlocked.

While officers were checking the building, someone was seen trying to open a window on the east side of the church. At that point, a 13-year-old boy came to a restroom door and asked the officer standing outside the building if he was in trouble. The boy crawled through the window to the officer and was taken into custody.

Parents of the trio were contacted and the boys were released pending interviews this week with detectives.

Eastern Orthodox Church remains steadfast in its beliefs

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

The Rev. John Meyendorff was beginning to feel exhausted. It was late Wednesday afternoon and he had just finished speaking at St. Louis University for the second time in as many days.

A leading scholar in the Eastern Orthodox Church and professor of church history at St. Vladimir's Seminary in Westchester County, N.Y., he arrived in the area on Tuesday to speak at SLU and the Nativity of Virgin Mary Eastern Orthodox Church in Madison.

Wednesday morning, he returned to New York in time to teach class at Fordham University in the Bronx. As a current member of the Central Committee of the World Council of Churches, which is based in Geneva, Switzerland, the Rev. Meyendorff also travels internationally as a representative of the Eastern Orthodox Church.

Understandably, he was weary as he sat at the rectory in Madison. Yet, he was most willing to talk about the future of the church, its relationship with the Roman Catholic Church and the growing trend of church leaders to issue opinions on controversial topics, a subject about which he obviously is not completely pleased.

In keeping with the principles of the Eastern Orthodox Church, Rev. Meyendorff seemed concerned that church leaders feel compelled to involve themselves in political issues, which often have nothing to do with the beliefs of the church.

"The Orthodox church is a church of tradition," he said. "While that does not mean that the church has not changed at all, it does mean that 'in the sense of continuity and consistency,' the alterations have been few."

THE REV. JOHN MEYENDORFF

Since the time of the Apostles, the church has remained true to its beliefs and doctrines, he said. "Inevitable changes" in terms of the way people behave and pray have occurred. "But I believe our church is the one steadfast church. That does not mean it is frozen, immobile," he said.

A descendent of the Byzantine State Church, the Orthodox faith was formed "intellectually and spiritually" in Greece and adheres to the teachings of the Apostles. From Greece, members of the church immigrated to Russia, where a strong following still exists, despite Communist rule.

Some misconceptions about the Eastern Orthodox Church stem directly from its relationship with the Soviet Union, the Rev. Meyendorff said.

While the church and its Russian members are "in communion," at least spiritually, the two really are independent, he explained.

Russia is experiencing a religious revival, despite the persecution of those who openly attend church. The Rev. Meyendorff said he does not foresee any imminent changes in the treatment of the church during the transition in leadership occurring in the Soviet Union.

There was a "substantial change" after the death of Josef Stalin," he said. A slight "melting of the (Communist) regime" occurred, but, since then, there has been little change.

The history of Russia is a main interest of the Rev. Meyendorff. He was born there, but his parents fled the country in 1918 during the revolution.

Raised in France, the Rev. Meyendorff, who still has a heavy accent, but speaks precise, clear English, was educated at the University of Paris. In 1959, one year after receiving his doctor of letters degree, he moved to the United States. His decision to become a priest, he said, occurred as a "kind of gradual development in my subconsciousness during my student days."

If they choose to marry, priests in the Eastern Orthodox Church must do so before they are ordained. The Rev. Meyendorff's wife, Marie, is French by birth, but was born of a Russian family. They have four children and one grandchild.

But the Rev. Meyendorff's personal life was not a large part of the conversation. Rather, he continued to talk about the history of the church and its beliefs.

Still a young church in the U.S., the Eastern Orthodox faith is growing. Its main strength is its active participation in a variety of areas, the Rev. Meyendorff said.

The central worship service is the Liturgy. "The Bible, the scripture comes alive not in words only, but in actions, food, drink, music, smell. It's a very potent way of expressing (oneself)," the Rev. Meyendorff said.

While priests do draw upon world events and voice opinions from the pulpit, the Rev. Meyendorff said he believes such statements should be made only as they apply to faith.

"I believe if you look objectively at the world today, the major contribution of the church is to be witness to the Kingdom of God," he said.

His work with the World Council of Churches has brought him closer to controversial issues. The council has been known to make stands on issues and sometimes does so through political motives, he said.

Its main intent is to create dialogue among the various churches in its membership to "try to find the solution to the problems of faith."

The council participates in various fields, including extensive cooperation in social work areas. Its membership, however, consists of many small churches of Third World nations. Often, the leaders of those churches do not easily recognize the "immediate problems of Communism," he said.

The Rev. Meyendorff said that the orthodox church has problems with some stances taken by various of the churches in the council. In general, however, the Rev. Meyendorff seemed content that the work of the council is worthwhile.

"It tends to be political and some of the media have presented it very critically. That's unfair. We're not Communist agents or something of that sort," he said. Again, he mentioned the number of Third World Countries involved, many of which are willing to give any form of government a chance.

Despite its participation in international dialogue, the Eastern Orthodox Church remains a fiercely independent faith and has been at odds with the Roman Catholic Church for centuries. While the sentiments are mutual in many ways, the Rev. Meyendorff said the two faiths have come a long way in re-establishing a relationship of understanding.

The Eastern Orthodox Church questions the "ultimate authority" placed with the Pope and the concept that he is "divinely appointed."

Pope John Paul II has been a vocal leader of the Catholic church, voicing his opinion on various topics previously untouched by pontiffs. "I rather admire him personally," the Rev. Meyendorff said.

Although progress has been made to mend the differences between the churches, the Rev. Meyendorff said, "the other dialogue is still necessary." The Vatican II Council strengthened the relationship, but "there are other doctrinal differences that cannot be resolved."

For the Eastern Orthodox Church, however, less importance is placed on resolving conflicts that have existed for ages than on maintaining consistency in doctrines and beliefs.

PRESS-RECORD

Sets New Madison High Record

'Skywalking' Lewis eyes state high jump record

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

BELLEVILLE — John Lewis earned the nickname "Skywalker" because he idolized professional basketball player David Thompson as a freshman at Madison High School.

Now his friends—and opponents—will be calling him Skywalker for a different reason. Lewis, a 5-foot-8 senior, leaped 6-foot-8 to win the high jump at a six-team track meet in Belleville Saturday. Lewis not only shattered his own school record of 6-6 with his winning jump, but he has the best high jump among Class A athletes so far this season, according to the state track publication Timely Times. Only one other Illinois athlete, Alton's Brian Smith, is known to have jumped 6-8 this year.

Lewis is not content to stop at 6-8, which was the winning jump in the jumping drills as well as work with weights.

"He can go out the first day and jump 6-4, but he has to keep training or he can't jump as well," Collins said. Lewis needs different types of jumping skills since he is the Trojans' best high jumper, long jumper and triple jumper. The high jump is his best event, the triple jump is next and the long jump is his lesser event.

"If he can keep cold weather and misses from affecting him, he is capable of doing a lot," Collins said. Lewis defeated cold weather and misses Saturday. That's why he is a serious contender for the state high jump title now.

Lewis also took second in the long jump (19-11½) and third in the triple jump (43-2½) at Belleville, but Lewis wasn't the only Trojan to come out a winner.

Madison, the only Class A school in the meet, finished four with 38 points behind Mt. Vernon's 88½ points, Belleville West's 58½ points and Centralia's 53 points. Collinsville had 26 points, and Granite City North came in last with 17 points.

Charles Fuller won the 400 meters for Madison in 51.9 seconds. Teammate Santos Howard was fifth with 55.4 seconds.

Shawn Brown was second in the 100 meters as he ran it in 11.1 seconds. Brown also ran the 200 meters in 23.8 seconds for third place.

In the 300 low hurdles, George Leonard was third with 41.1 seconds. Madison's 400 meter relay team, Brown, Leroy Latham, Leonard and Fuller, was third with 44.8 seconds, and the 800 relay team, Howard, Derrick Jackson, Leonard and Brown was third with 1:35.5. Deloron Young, Zimary Ranson, Howard and Fuller made up the mile relay team, which ran 3:49.5 in the race.

"I was very pleased with the team," Madison Coach Charles Steptoe said. "Fuller and Brown cut some time off their races, and they're improving." Meanwhile, North got into a rut and stayed in it for the meet. No Steeler won

TOP FORM. Madison's John Lewis has no problem clearing 6-8 to win the long jump in a six-team meet in Belleville Saturday. His jump was not only a school record, it was the best jump by any Class A high jumper this season. Only one other high jumper is known to have jumped 6-8 in the early part of the season. Lewis is only 5-8 and 148 pounds, but he hopes to be able to jump 7-foot or more by the end of the season.

Class A finals last season. Lewis wants to leap 7-0 before the end of the season. His jumping coach at Madison, Al Collins, is convinced Lewis can go 7-0. He believes Lewis can go up to 7-2.

"He's definitely capable of going 7-foot," Collins said. "I think this jump today will really spur him on to do it. John can get down pretty easy sometimes, but I think this will keep him up to do better."

Despite a wind which was blowing in to the high jumper's faces at Belleville, Lewis was able to pull off his jump. He missed his first two jumps at 6-2, but made his third and was on his way to 6-8. He tried for 6-9, but Lewis, weighing only 148 pounds, was affected by the wind at that height and stopped after two tries.

"If it wouldn't have been for the weather, I'm sure I could have jumped higher," Lewis said. "I'm sure I'm going to improve as the season goes on. I didn't start out very well this season, but it's coming along."

How can a 5-8 jumper conquer heights a foot taller than himself? "When someone asks me why I'm able to jump so high, I tell them I've been blessed. I'm always confident that I can jump high," Lewis said.

Collins said Lewis has great natural athletic ability, but he said much hard training goes into his jumps. Lewis, who is able to leg press 500 pounds easily, does a lot of running and special event. When North Coach Harry Lang, who was with the North girls at the East St. Louis Relays, saw what happened, he was unhappy.

A lot of our boys weren't anywhere near their personal best times, and they were falling way short of times they ran this year. You can't use weather as an excuse because everyone is in the same boat. They have to realize they have to start competing soon," Lang said.

North's Jim Robertson was second in the 100 meters (19-11½) and third in the 200 meters (43-4.3). Darrin Bernaix was second in the 400 meters (2:06.8). David Long was fifth in the triple jump (41-0). Richard Moore was fifth in the pole vault (11-0). Scott Cant was fourth in the high jump (6-0) and John Morris was fourth in the discus (119-5). North's 1600 relay team was fifth.

GC wrestlers to represent GC College

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor

GRANITE CITY — The Granite City Center, Granite City's fledgling junior center, went a long way to establishing a strong foundation for its wrestling team last week as several area top wrestlers have shown an interest in representing GCC on the mats this winter.

Last Thursday, April 14, Belleville Area College wrestling coach Jim O'Dell and seven area top grapplers, some of whom completed for Granite City High School teams, gathered at the Press-Record office formally announcing their intentions to attend the Granite City campus.

Among those who have given O'Dell verbal commitments are Randy Lompardus, Rob Milazzo, Mike Trgovich, Les Henry, Ken Dowdy, Doug Graham and Jim Frangoulis. All but Henry and Milazzo, who are from Edwardsville and Roxana respectively, are from Granite City.

Other athletes whom O'Dell said he hopes to recruit into the GCC system include North's Rod Ingler, Colin Davis, John Morris and Bill Zimmer as well as South's Jon Frangoulis, Collinsville's Henry Levy and E'Fallon's Ross Hawk.

"We're really excited about bringing a wrestling program to Granite City," O'Dell said. "Granite City has a great high school wrestling tradition and we're hopeful of instilling that tradition into the junior college level."

Unlike the NCAA, in the NJCAA, the National Junior College Athletic Association, athletes do not sign a letter of intent. Athletes compete without any "formal" agreement, O'Dell said. However, that does not keep junior colleges from fulfilling their obligations to athletes.

"We're trying to establish a wrestling tradition in Granite City. Many of those athletes who wrestle for us will have their tuition taken care of," the BAC wrestling coach said.

Although Belleville Area College administrators have agreed to transfer the wrestling program to the Granite City Center this year, it's not because the program has been unsuccessful. Last year, BAC's wrestling team was 9-5 in dual matches and went on to finish fourth in Illinois behind Triton College of Chicago, the eventual junior college national champion and Lincoln College of Lincoln Ill., which finished 11th nationally.

"We finished fourth last year out of Belleville. By moving our program to Granite City, we hope to strengthen our team and improve our finish in the state," O'Dell said.

Although O'Dell said he has been recruiting athletes to "fill" certain weight classes where he thinks his team may need strengthening, he would not specify which wrestlers he had with him Thursday would wrestle in which weight class.

Unlike high school wrestling weight classes which have 12 divisions, in junior college there are but 10 classes—118, 126, 134, 142, 150, 158, 167, 177, 190 pounds and heavyweight. To put things in perspective, last year Dowdy and Graham wrestled for South's coach Bill Schmitt at 167 and heavy-weight respectively while Trgovich, Lompardus and Frangoulis wrestled for the Warriors at 119, 126 and 185 pounds the year before.

North's grapplers Davis, Unger, Zimmer and Morris, Bethalto's Jeff Nichols, Collinsville's Levy and O'Fallon's Hawk each wrestled 98, 126, 167, 185, 145, 185 and 138 respectively. "We're going to be loaded in each weight class," O'Dell said. "These guys know that they'll have to beat some fine wrestlers to get the top seat, but that doesn't seem to bother them."

O'Dell concluded saying that he and his wrestling staff plan to do what they can to increase and promote the interest in wrestling in Granite City by sponsoring tournaments and wrestling clinics at GCC during the course of wrestling season.

South netmen serve Triad loss; Warriors now 3-2

ST. JACOB — Granite City South's tennis team won four of five matches from Triad Monday afternoon, setting the pace for its third victory of the season. The 5-2 Warriors' victory boosts South's record to 3-2 on the season.

In first singles competition, South's John Menendez rolled over Triad's Ray Muliniks 6-2, 6-4.

In second singles competition, and probably one of the biggest turnarounds of the season, South's Matt Sheridan overcame a 2-6 first set loss and came back to defeat the Knights' Mike Rogier 2-6, 6-1, 6-1.

Granite South
Warriors

South's young sensation Robbie Lombardi, playing third singles, gave the Warriors a comfortable 3-0 lead by easily disposing of Bill Cook in straight sets 6-1, 6-3.

Triad picked up its only singles match of the afternoon in fourth singles as Jeff Pauk defeated Chris Cheneberk 2-6, 3-6. South regained its winning form in the fifth singles match as Bill Forrest defeated Jeff Rich 6-2, 6-3.

In doubles competition, Charlie Miles and teammate Don Kaltmayer lost to Muliniks and Rogier 6-2, 4-6, 6-7. The Warriors picked up their final win of the afternoon as Tom Hitt and Jerry Lakin teamed to defeat Triad's Pauk and Cook 6-4, 7-6.

The Warriors are scheduled to take to their home courts this afternoon as visiting Edwardsville journeys into steel town.

Steeler netters down Kahoks for first victory

GRANITE CITY — It's been a frustrating season for Granite City North's tennis team thus far this season. The young Steeler squad has dealt with unforgiving Mother Nature while formidable opponents have taught them the value of experience.

Going into Friday's match, the Steelers were 0-4. But things were different Friday as coach John Van Buskirk's netters came from behind, winning the final three matches to take a 4-3 victory over visiting Collinsville.

In first singles action, North's David Lipe, much improved over last year, fell to the Kahoks' Dave Quarengi in straight sets, 6-4, 6-3. Quarengi is one of the premiere high school tennis athletes in the area.

Things continued to look bleak for the Steelers in second singles competition as Scott Denis dropped two straight sets to Paul Fedder 6-4, 6-0.

It wasn't until third singles when the Steelers finally picked up a win, and it wasn't easy at that. North's Jesse Byrd, after dropping the first set to Scott Boatright, 4-6, came back to win the final two sets 6-4, 6-2.

The Steelers evened the series at two wins each in fourth singles as David Goff hung in a three set match to defeat Collinsville's Bob Catalpa 6-2, 5-7, 7-5. The marathon singles match lasted well into doubles competition.

Quarengi's dominance carried over into first doubles competition as well and teammate Fedder defeated Lipe and Dennis 6-2, 6-3. Quarengi's ability to hit the passing shots and general court sense prevailed in both of his matches.

In second doubles, North's Byrd and Tony Watson edged Collinsville's Boatright and John Stringer 7-5 in the first set, then waited to a 6-2 victory in the second set. The victory was Byrd's second of the afternoon.

In the final and deciding match of the afternoon, North's Dave Warfield and Tim Black defeated Todd Fischer and Jim Schwartz in what was probably the closest match. The Black and Warfield duo edged the Collinsville pair 7-6, 7-6.

"The victory was just what we needed," Coach Van Buskirk said afterwards. "I'm real happy for the kids."

This Wednesday the Steelers will travel to Cahokia to take on the Comanches and then return to Granite City Thursday to take on cross-town rival South at South. Friday, in a rescheduled match from April 12, the Steelers take on Mascoutah at home. All matches begin at 4 p.m.

Recalling Great Moments in Granite City Sports History Warriors' '60 upset sectional win among biggest

By AL BARNES
for the Press-Record

For a long time, I've been wanting to do a series of sports stories in which local (Granite City, Madison, Venice and Lovejoy) high schools played a dramatic and key role.

The problem was, which one of the many, many thrilling athletic contests should I pick to lead off the series.

Finally, since what I saw was as a spectator, not a reporter, at least three of their startling upsets, I have chosen Granite City High's mind-boggling upset victory over a great Pinckneyville High team in the spring of 1960 on the floor at Senior High down in East St. Louis in the sectional Tournament.

Star of that 1960 Warrior team was Rich Williams, the player they dubbed the "Man in the Iron Mask" because of an injury to his teeth late in that thrilling season.

Pinckneyville High came into its game at East St. Louis ranked No. 1 in the state and riding a 43-game winning streak, including a 65-59 victory over Granite City in the finals of the Centralia Christmas tournament. Coach Don Stanton had the Panthers ready to win it all, that year.

Coach Andy Sullivan and his Granite City Warriors came into the sectional with 26-4 record, but the locals were truly "on a roll" having upset a tremendous Collinsville Kahoks' squad, 72-65, to avenge an earlier loss to Coach Vergil Fletcher's group of aces.

In the first round of the Sweet Sixteen, the Warriors lost a heartbreaker to West Frankfort in double overtime. And guess who was a member of that West Frankfort team? None other than our own Athletic Director at Granite City North, one Bryn Wilkinson.

Rich Williams, who now teaches and coaches in the local schools, was the scoring leader for Granite City the three years he started.

In their loss to Pinckneyville at Centralia at the Yule time, Williams captured scoring honors with 25 points while Bigham was held to 10 and his teammate, Dave Roach, who went on to star at the University of Iowa, racked up 19 points.

Of course, Williams went on to star for the Bradley University Braves and climaxed his collegiate career in 1964 by pacing the Peoria five to the National Invitation Basketball (NIT) championship at the old Madison Square Garden.

The four teams in that 1960 Super Sectional at East St. Louis were: West Frankfort, Duplo, Pinckneyville and Granite City. West Frankfort, incidentally, went on to finish third in the state tourney, having lost to the eventual champion Marshall High of Chicago in the semis.

Williams, who not only was a deadeye shot from the floor (18 to 20 feet out), was a sensational shot from the charity line: at Bradley, he missed only 19 tries in 175 shots. And, had one streak of 25 straight. In the finals of the NIT in 1960, Bradley slaughtered Lobos of the University of New Mexico by a 86-54 score.

An oddity of college ball at that time: the Bradley players were not permitted to miss but one class a week. Said Williams: "It took some real knowhow in figuring out transportation problems to stay within that limitation. But, we did."

Other starters for Granite City on that 1960 Cinderella Team were: Frank Knight, Bob Price, Carl Wortham, and James Simpson. Warrior reserves were McDowell, Prusak and Cook.

Towering centers were about the only thing which hurt the 1960 Warriors — Collinsville's 6'6" Bogie Redmon, and Pinckneyville's 6'6" Roach.

Williams says now: "We had a closed-knit group who enjoyed playing defense and we all were ready to sacrifice for the good of the team."

FOUR ON ONE. Four on one doesn't seem to be fair odds, at least that's what Pinckneyville High's Eldon Bigham (in white) must've been thinking in this 1960 Sectional Tournament game held in East St. Louis. Boring away Bigham's shot attempt is Granite City's Bob Price. At the extreme left, is the Warriors scoring ace Rich Williams (in the mask), who waits to retrieve Bigham's shot. At the far right is the Warriors' Frank Knight and behind him is teammate Jim Simpson. Bigham, by the way, is now the athletic director at SIU-Edwardsville.

Madison, North tracksters find ESTL duel tough

EAST ST. LOUIS — Madison's and Granite City North's girls track teams both found out what life with the Illinois Class AA track powers was all about Saturday at the East St. Louis Relays.

East St. Louis Lincoln, the defending Class AA girls track champion, won the meet, East St. Louis, fourth at the state meet, was second, and Chicago (South Shore), third last year, was third at East St. Louis.

Madison, the only Class A school at the meet, was far from the running for the championship, but the Trojanettes earned the respect of many large school coaches at the meet, according to Madison coach Lavonia Long.

"A lot of the coaches from the big schools really complemented us for coming out of the slow heat in some of our races and beating people in the fast heats," Long said. "I was really pleased with the way we ran. I really think we can do well against other Class A team later in the year."

Madison's 800 relay team, Glenette Rhodes, Jowana Dillon, Regina Banks and Jerriann Ware, finished fifth in 1:53.1, the mile relay team, Dorothy Noblin, Sherri Ware, Banks and Linda Scott, also finished fifth.

Banks also finished fifth in the 100 meter dash in 16.2 seconds. She had also run a 15.6 second 100 meters in the semifinals of the meet.

In fact, Madison might have run beyond what their capabilities. "We had a lot of people complaining about pain, and that's because we haven't kept in shape like we should be," Long said.

Meanwhile, North's girls had similar difficulties against the tough field. Only one individual and two relays placed for North as well.

Debbie Brandt finished fifth in the discus with a throw of 101.3. Last year, she finished seventh in that event.

"I'm not surprised that she placed," North Coach Harry Lang said. "She has worked hard to improve herself, and it's starting to pay off now. If she can stay over 100 feet the rest of the year, she will be doing fine."

Meanwhile, the two-mile relay team, Angie Novosel, Kim Smith, Faye Patton and Dawn Young finished fourth for North. The distance medley team, Novosel, Brandt, Patton and Young, finished fifth.

Lang thought the Steelers were capable of doing somewhat better. "Mental lapses really hurt us in the relays, especially the mile relay. We should have been able to do very well with the mile relay but we did. The other teams really burned us in the sprint relays."

Madison and Wood River travel to Bethalto for a meet at 3:30 p.m.

Seek easing of rules on bank terminal sharing, holding firms, credit charges

The board of directors of the Illinois Bankers Association, which met in Chicago in mid-April, has developed a comprehensive legislative program for 1983.

According to IBA President Ronald R. Lovett, a former Granite City banker, the program "has its origins in a letter that was sent to all banks in Illinois, requesting their input on regulatory issues that deserved the active attention of our association."

Lovett, who is chairman and president of the Dixon National Bank, went on to say that "the board is extremely concerned that banking in Illinois have a unified and effective voice, both in Springfield and Washington. Our program for 1983 will be pursued vigorously, on behalf of our new, united association."

The IBA legislative program for 1983 includes:

1. Electronic Funds Transfer — to amend the provisions affecting electronic funds transfer. The bill would include:

(a) Interstate Sharing — to repeal the requirement for a reciprocal agreement with contiguous states and permit transmission to Illinois financial institutions from out-of-state terminals as well as transmissions to non-Illinois financial institutions from Illinois terminals. All transactions would be permitted except deposits and loan payments.

(b) ATM Identification — to allow identification by the logo of the switch or switches serving the automatic teller machine terminal, with the directly connected switch listed first and most prominently.

(c) Community Service Facilities — to clarify that a bank ATM located at a community service facility is an on-premise ATM.

(d) Premises of a Seller — to clarify that a POS terminal can be established on the property owned or leased by a seller of goods and services.

(e) Sharing of ATMs — to allow the sharing of automatic teller machines statewide for all transactions except deposits and loan payments, while retaining the current rules for those two functions.

(f) Proprietary Networks — to permit a proprietary network to be connected with terminals anywhere within the bank holding company region in which the network is located and to terminals in one contiguous region.

(g) Loans at facilities — to permit a bank to accept deposits at terminals under the current provisions which allow for the taking of deposits in a bank's home county or contiguous counties.

2. Loans at facilities — to authorize the making of loans at bank facilities.

3. Savings and Loan Conversion — to authorize conversion of the charter of a troubled savings and loan association to a state bank charter or the merger of that association into a state-chartered bank. It also provides that a troubled bank could be converted to a savings and loan charter.

Other provisions in the bill would:

(a) Clarify that a bank holding company would be allowed to operate a savings and loan association as a subsidiary, pending action at the federal level.

(b) Restrict a converted savings and loan to operating only the number of offices authorized under the Illinois Banking Act.

(c) Outline a procedure by which the commissioner of banks and trusts and the commissioner of savings and loan associations determine that an institution is troubled and that a conversion is necessary.

(d) Provide an exemption to the Bank Holding Company Act to allow a converted S&L to be acquired by a bank holding company.

4. Trust Company Locations — to allow a trust company, operated as a subsidiary of a bank holding company, to service its accounts through the banking stations of the holding company.

5. Legal Lending Limits — to provide parity for state banks with those lending limits authorized for national banks.

6. Credit Cards — to provide for late charges on revolving credit accounts that are more than 60 days delinquent, with a limit of three such charges per year, and to allow credit card issuers to charge a fee for returned checks and to add the fee to the account balance.

The fee would be based on either the bank's regular charge for returned checks or by reference to the $10 rate provided in the Uniform Commercial Code.

7. Security on Revolving Credit — to allow lenders to secure revolving lines of credit with an interest in real or personal property.

8. Withholding Requirements — to continue to support 400 and SB 98, which exempt interest and dividends from withholding for Illinois income tax purposes.

9. Income Tax Deduction for Expenses and Amortization — to allow for deductions of expenses incurred and the amortization of bond premiums from income generated from state, local and municipal bonds for Illinois income tax purposes.

10. Opening a Safe Deposit Box of a Decedent — to remove the requirement that notice be served upon the State Treasurer and Attorney General and their granting consent prior to the opening of the safe deposit box.

11. Cumulative Voting Right — to permit banks to eliminate cumulative voting. This would be based on a bill passed last session which permitted other Illinois corporations this right.

12. Credit Card Fraud — to regulate the use of credit cards and to create penalties for theft, fraud, misrepresentation and forgeries in the use of debit cards.

13. Unitary Taxation — to amend the definition of financial institutions in the Illinois Income Tax Act so as to include bank holding companies. This change would allow the benefits of unitary taxation for bank holding companies.

"The new Illinois Bankers Association, which came into existence on Jan. 1, 1983, is a progressive, full-service trade association, representing virtually all of the banks in Illinois," Lovett commented.

Provost of new GC college addresses retired employees

Dr. Frank Gornick, provost of Belleville Area College's new Granite City Center, addressed the regular monthly meeting of the National Association of Retired Federal Employees' Chapter 1067 at Chans Restaurant last week. There were 66 in attendance, including two guests, George Landon and Ed Frey, both of Troy.

The chapter president, Harry McClintock, called the luncheon meeting to order at 11:30 a.m. Thara Erney gave the invocation and the Pledge of Allegiance was repeated by all.

A change in the order of business was announced by the president to accommodate the schedule of the guest speaker, whose presence was arranged by Elmer Ebrecht of the program committee.

Dr. Gornick told the group that the first semester at the new center will open Aug. 22 in the educational institution constructed 10 years ago as Granite City High School North.

Included in his presentation was Dr. Gornick's description of the ambitious curriculum and campus activities which will be offered to students and the community. At the conclusion of his remarks, the audience gave Dr. Gornick a round of applause.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, Ruth Stoyanoff. There was no treasurer's report because of the treasurer's illness.

Ebrecht announced that he has made arrangements for a guest speaker for the May meeting. Mayne Vallow gave a report on the Sunshine Committee.

Before presenting his report on legislative happenings of importance to federal retirees and their survivors, Lawrence Hengehold, first vice president, thanked the members for their cards and concerned telephone calls after his recent surgery.

He then reported that federal annuitants will have experienced changes on two consecutive monthly retirement checks. New income tax withholding deductions were reflected on checks dated April 1, and the cost of living adjustment (3.8 percent for senior retirees, and 3.3 percent for those under plans. However, it is well known that the public debate which will surround the supplementary retirement program during Congressional consideration is expected to be too volatile for it to occur during the crucial election year. Hence, the delayed target date of 1985, he said.

The April issue of "Retirement Life" gives considerable insight on the pressures applied on members of Congress when they were considering the enacted Social Security reform package. Although current and future federal employees and retirees suffered a set back in that legislation, the president's Fiscal Year 1984 budget proposals impacting adversely on this favorite "whipping boy" group of taxpayers has been soundly rejected by the House of Representatives.

Hengehold said. Hopefully, the Senate will be as fair-minded as the House in rejecting the budget proposals upon return from the Easter recess, he added.

In addition to Hengehold's remarks, McClintock, discussed the recommendations of the presidentially appointed task force charged with recommending actions to reduce federal spending. Staffed by affluent chief executive officers of a number of Fortune "500" companies, the task force unanimously mirrored the biased utterance of other so-called "blue ribbon" groups appointed by the current administration in Washington by taking undeserved swipes at the federal retirement system, McClintock contended. He also discussed the withholding for income tax purposes, starting on July 13 of 10 percent of interest and dividends earned, despite the deluge of mail received by Congressmen from constituents who are very unhappy with the requirement.

Two birthdays of members celebrated in April, as well as the 60th wedding anniversary this month of Mary and William Breidenbach, were announced and congratulations extended.

The president announced that the next meeting of NARFE will be at Charlie's May 9 at 11:30 a.m.

'LISTENING' TAUGHT
Active and passive listening and how each affects family counseling skills will be discussed at a Homemakers' Extension Association unit meetings this week. Catherine Mauck, Extension Adviser, will teach the topic at 1 p.m. Wednesday for the Venice Madison unit at the Venice Recreation Center.

Q. What considerations should a person who is thinking about an early retirement make as far as financial matters are concerned?

A. Anyone considering early retirement should take careful stock of his or her total financial situation. Remember, that a person who is sixty years old may well live another 20-25 years or more, and the cost of living into the next century is anyone's guess. If you would require Social Security, pension and savings account interest to live now, you may have problems with the future. If you are able to meet current expenses with Social Security, and live in a house with no mortgage, with a private pension and savings as a cushion, you'll probably keep up with inflation while it is linked to movements in the consumer price index. Private pensions, however, will probably fall behind inflation. The answer may be to work longer to build up additional Social Security, and invest in an IRA or Keogh Plan, now.

THEFTS FROM STORES

Thefts from both local P. N. Hirsch Co. stores were reported last week.

Charles Davis, manager, of the Hirsch store at 1337 Nineteenth St., said a man walked out of the store carrying an AM-FM stereo-cassette recorder worth $120, which was taken from a display case. A search of the downtown area failed to locate the thief, who was black, 6 feet tall, of medium build, clean shaven and had short hair.

Two AM-FM stereo-cassette recorders, valued at $240, were removed from boxes in a storage room at the Belleme Village store. Craig Hunter, manager, reported the same day. An inventory was being taken to determine if other items were missing.

House Tour and Fair planned for May 15

By DONNA KIMBRO
of the Press-Record

Six homes located in the 2100 block of Cleveland Boulevard and two public buildings will be included on the 10th House Tour and Craft Fair, sponsored by the Downtown Neighborhood Restoration Society.

The annual event is planned for Sunday, May 15, from 1 to 6 p.m. Tickets will cost $2.50 in advance and $3 on the day of the tour. Advance tickets may be obtained by sending check or money order, payable to DNRS Inc., to P.O. Box 217, Granite City, or from any member of the organization.

Restoration of older homes in the downtown area came into being with the organization of the DNRS in February 1973 when a few home owners gathered to discuss creating a club to exchange ideas on renovation of the big old homes, once known for their beauty and spaciousness.

The purpose of the society was to modernize and improve the houses without destroying the style or floor plan, and to restore original wood work, wood floors and winding staircases.

All owners worked towards this goal and as they achieved success in the restoration program other people became interested purchasing turn of the century houses.

Houses included on the tour will reflect the special interest given each outstanding or historical feature of the home.

Homeowners who have offered their houses for public viewing are, Bruce and Debbie Crittenden of 2116 Cleveland Blvd., Robert Steele, 2133 Cleveland Blvd., Gene and Vi Favier, 2129 Cleveland Blvd., William Lenkiewicz and John Hatton Jr., 2140 Cleveland Blvd., Jack and Ann Messick, 2141 Cleveland Blvd., and Brett Hanke, 2145 Cleveland Blvd.

The public buildings include the Granite City Public Library, 2001 Delmar Ave., and Emerson School, which will have open house to celebrate years of service to the community, and will

A craft fair will be in progress during the house tour under the Purina Tent located behind Emerson School, 20th and Benton streets.

Refreshments will also be offered during the afternoon event near the tent area, provided by the DNRS members.

Savings and Loan to build new office in Collinsville

By ED GURNEY

Madison County Federal Savings and Loan Association has announced plans to remove the old Gauen Lumber Co. building in Collinsville and construct a new Collinsville office at the northwest corner of the Church Street-Morrison Avenue (Illinois 159) intersection.

Demolition of the lumber company structure is scheduled to begin this week. The 2½-story savings and loan building, estimated to cost more than $600,000, is scheduled to be completed by Aug. 15.

Madison County Federal will move from its present Collinsville location at 101 W. Main. The switch was dictated by the recent leasing of the firm's present building to the Illinois state Police and Division of Criminal Investigation.

The state police moved to Collinsville from Maryville in February. The DCI will move to Collinsville's Main Street from Fairview Heights when Madison County Federal's new building is completed.

"It's a good location. It's going to benefit us, but it's also going to be beneficial to the downtown, there's no doubt about it," said Paul Sodko, president of Madison County Federal, which is headquartered in Granite City.

Construction is being handled by the Joiner-Winfield Development Co. of Edwardsville.

The style of the building, which will face Morrison, was described by Clay Winfield of Joiner-Winfield as rustic old New England, which he said will blend in with nearby buildings.

"I'll have a lot of nice woodwork inside," Sodko said. "We're going to dress it up." Sodko said Madison County Federal is using about 3,000 square feet of space in its present Collinsville office.

The new building will have a total of 7,200 square feet, including 4,400 on the first and second floor and 2,800 in a basement. On the first floor will be the savings loan's lobby, tellers, vault, new accounts department, and manager's office.

On the second floor will be the administrative and loan offices and a conference room. There will be some rental space available.

The exterior will be landscaped and there will be 20 parking spaces, Sodko said.

Size of the building and lot, purchased from the Gauen family, is 148 by 165 feet, Winfield said.

There will be two drive-up lanes with room to add a third, Sodko said. The entrance will be off Church or Morrison, with the exits on Church. The business most recently in the building, the Bargain Barn, has been closed for some time.

"They couldn't have picked a better place in downtown," Mayor Gene Brombolich said, describing the existing structure as a eyesore and fire hazard.

Sodko said representatives of Madison County Federal and Joiner-Winfield probably looked at 25 sites. "I didn't realize there were that many sites available," Sodko said.

Sodko noted there was some controversy over whether Madison County Federal would move from Collinsville's downtown area. "A lot of people have been putting words in our mouth," he said. "Everyone had us going out on the Be Line."

Joiner said there were no inducements such as revenue bonds to get Madison County Federal to build downtown. "It seems that in this current time most folks are talking about downtown revitalization, but it seems that so few are willing to make a financial commitment," Joiner said.

Sodko and Brombolich said they hope the new building would encourage others downtown to make improvements.

Madison County Federal also has offices in Granite City, Glen Carbon and Troy. It merged with Union Savings and Loan of Collinsville several months ago.

A LETTER TO OUR CUSTOMERS

Dear Customers:

If you're upset about your recent utility bill, you have good cause. We're just as upset about some of the bills we've been receiving, too. Power bills have been higher than last year, even though this winter has been milder and many of our customers have improved the insulation in their homes and turned back their thermostats. We are very aware of the increased financial burden being felt by our customers, and we would like to explain some of the causes and possible solutions to the problem.

Why are bills so high?

The main reason utility bills are so high is a change in the federal government's policy on the pricing of natural gas. In 1978, Congress passed the Natural Gas Policy Act to remove government controls on the price of natural gas from newly developed underground wells. This policy has resulted in a tremendous increase in the amount of natural gas available. It has, however, also brought on much higher prices charged to utilities by the pipeline suppliers.

How much has this cost?

Since 1978 the cost of natural gas to Illinois Power customers has increased 124%. Of this, 108% has gone directly to the pipelines, not Illinois Power. Our increased costs of providing service over the five year period account for the remaining 16%. I think you can see why we're as upset as you are with the rising cost of natural gas!

What has Illinois Power done about this?

Some people have asked why utility companies did not foresee this problem years ago. We did. In fact, to protect the interest of our customers, Illinois Power has intervened in every request for increases by our pipeline suppliers. This has involved more than 80 rate proceedings since 1978. Our goal has been to provide a supply of natural gas at prices our customers can afford. Prices for gas from new wells must be reduced. Pipeline contract provisions such as excessive "take or pay" clauses must be changed. To do this, Congress must change the Natural Gas Policy Act of 1978.

What can Illinois Power customers do to help?

Join us in the fight to change the law. We are urging Congress to make the following changes in the Natural Gas Policy Act:

1. "Well-head" prices for newly recovered natural gas must be limited to 1982 levels.
2. "Take or Pay" clauses in producer/pipeline contracts must be changed to respond to 50% of the contract amount.
3. Producer/pipeline adjustment clauses must be changed to respond to natural gas supply and demand.
4. Producer/pipeline contracts for high cost unregulated (Section 107) natural gas must be renegotiated.
5. The federal government must set guidelines so that pipeline/utility rates will reflect supply and demand.
6. Contracts for foreign natural gas must be renegotiated to prices that Americans can afford to pay.
7. Price controls on "old" (Section 104) natural gas must be continued.

We believe that with your help we can make this message heard by our Senators and Congressmen in Washington. Please write or phone your congressmen today, and urge them to support HR 2154 sponsored by Rep. Gephardt. You should also urge your Senators to support Senate Bill S996 on Natural Gas Pricing which has been introduced by Senator Kassenbaum. If you would like further information on this, please feel free to call or write me. Thank you for your concern.

Bishop McNicholas

13, 1923, in St. Louis. His only sister, Mrs. Edward P. (Max) Blittschau, lives in Springfield with her husband and two children.

He is grand-nephew of the late Monsignor Peter Tallon of the Archdiocese of St. Louis and was a nephew of the late Peter A. Tallon, in whose memory the Benedictine Sisters' Chapel of Perpetual Adoration in South St. Louis was constructed. Bishop McNicholas graduated from Cardinal Glennon College, St. Louis.

He completed his theological studies at Kenrick Seminary in St. Louis, and on June 7, 1949, the late Joseph Cardinal Ritter ordained him as a priest for the Archdiocese of St. Louis. From 1949 to 1955 he was an assistant pastor of St. Louis Cathedral. Transferred to Most Holy Name of Jesus Parish in 1955, he served as assistant pastor there until 1966 when he became chaplain of St. Joseph's Home for Boys.

On March 25, 1968, having been appointed by Pope Paul VI to serve as an Auxiliary Bishop of St. Louis, he was consecrated to the Episcopacy by His Eminence John Cardinal Carberry, archbishop of St. Louis. In July of that year, he was appointed pastor of the historic Old Cathedral on the St. Louis Riverfront.

During the six years as pastor of the historic church, he opened the Old Cathedral Museum. In the summer of 1975, he was appointed as Bishop of Springfield and was installed in that office on Sept. 3, 1975.

Bishop McNicholas' service in this new office began with the visitation of 204 parishes, missions and institutions of the Diocese of Springfield within the first nine months of his appointment. His administrative style placed a high degree of importance on personal presence, and he averaged more than 27,000 miles a year in diocesan visitations.

During his eight years as bishop, he spearheaded drives to raise funds for Catholic high schools in Springfield, Alton, Decatur and Quincy. He secured federal funds for the construction of two high-rise apartments for the elderly and the handicapped in Springfield and Alton, he dedicated 12 new churches in the diocese and relocated St. Agnes Parish in Springfield.

Ecumenism is another field in which the Bishop was involved. He preached in Jewish Temples and Protestant churches over the years.

Bishop McNicholas also was an avid sports fan.

A celebrated Mass of the Resurrection will be celebrated in the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception in Springfield at 11 a.m. Thursday, April 21. Principal celebrant of the Mass will be Cardinal Joseph Bernardin, Archbishop of Chicago. Archbishop Edward O'Meara of Indianapolis will give the homily.

Interment will be in crypts reserved for deceased bishops underneath the Cathedral sanctuary. Arrangements for the wake and special masses by various groups of the diocese will be announced as soon as plans are finalized.

GC men are burglary suspects; 2 in custody, 3 are at large

Three Granite City men are at large and two are in custody after being charged in informational documents for their alleged parts in a series of burglaries. It was announced Monday by the Madison County Sheriff's Department, which conducted a three-week investigation in cooperation with the Division of Criminal Investigation that cleared 13 burglaries in Madison and St. Clair counties.

Martin E. Glaspie Jr., 22, of 4707 Kirkpatrick Homes and Jerry Nishke, 37, 2164 Lee Ave., were arrested Sunday at their homes by Granite City police on county warrants and taken to the Madison County Jail.

Glaspie is charged with participating in two residential burglaries and his bond is set at $100,000. Nishke is charged with participating in one residential burglary with bond at $50,000. David A. Kuehnel, 16, his brother Daryl Kuehnel, 20, both of 2151 Washington Ave., and Richard M. Wilson, 43, of 2010 Grand Ave., have not been apprehended. Gary Lee Askew, 28, of Edwardsville also is in custody at the county jail. He is charged with participating in seven residential burglaries, one attempted burglary and one burglary to a doctor's office. His bond is set at $250,000.

Both David and Daryl

Kuehnel are charged with six residential burglaries and one burglary to a doctor's office with bond set at $150,000.

Wilson is charged with one burglary to a residence and his bond is $10,000.

Authorities said the burglaries occurred between Feb. 5 and April 2, 1983. The Madison County Sheriff's Department said the burglaries occurred mainly during the evenings in Madison and St. Clair counties. Burglaries in St. Clair County occurred in unincorporated areas of the county in Fairview Heights.

The Madison County Sheriff's Department said the burglaries occurred in Bealto, Collinsville, Maryville, Granite City and Glen Carbon. About $30,000 in property has been recovered by investigators, the majority of which were firearms, computer equipment and office equipment.

Fourteen investigators currently are involved

A public hearing Thursday to obtain input about an Urban Development Action Grant for renovation of the A.O. Smith facility in Granite City failed to attract any citizens.

Leo Konzen, an attorney retained by A.O. Smith to handle matters here, said that additional public hearings will be conducted in the future.

The Granite City Board of Realtors and the Granite City Multiple Listing Service will hold their monthly meeting at Charlie's Restaurant on Wednesday, April 20, at noon.

The guest speaker will be Les Herron from the Illinois Bell Speaker's Bureau. His topic will be Let's Talk About Change; a story of the Bell System in transition.

PRESCRIPTION ARREST
Larry Butts, also known as Larry Irons, 41, of 2101 Bryan Ave. has been transferred to the Madison County jail after being charged with forgery. An attempt was made to obtain a prescription drug at the Reese Bellemore store, authorities alleged.
